

Together, Lenovo and Microsoft are reimagining education.

The new hybrid learning model means that students are working independently and collaboratively both in and out of the classroom. Providing a wide range of modern devices with Windows 10, Lenovo delivers powerful, durable, and secure tools for teachers and students.

Supporting and training teachers is more important than ever. A survey of teachers in 60 countries found that 60% of them said they were not prepared for online learning.<sup>1</sup>

With the right hardware and software solutions, the youngest learners to college-ready students are empowered to achieve more, going beyond information gathering to real-world application. Combining Lenovo laptops built for education and Microsoft's assistive technology and cognitive services, learning from anywhere becomes thriving from everywhere.
